

“Back on Track” Back to School Survey Results:

- 81% of parents polled are stressed about the return back to school
- 89% find completing homework stressful
- 84% are stressed from wondering whether the new teacher will understand their child’s ADHD and work with them to put proper strategies in place
- 72% find organizing their child’s routine at home in the morning or evening stressful
- 28% of parents feel they don’t have enough time during their child’s ADHD follow-up appointment with their physician